

THE FOURTH DAY.

All Lines of the Great Northern Affected.

Only 200 Miles Remain in Working Condition.

No Violence Has Occurred and None Is Anticipated.

The American Railway Union Apparently Ahead in the Controversy—A Strike on the Northern Pacific Thwarted.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.

ST. PAUL, April 17.—Arthur Morrissey and several chairmen of the Brotherhood Committee today decided not to recognize the A.R.U. in any way. The brotherhood men, who are members of the new organization, are receiving advice that the strike has not been sanctioned by the lodges.

The end of the fourth day since the American Railway Union declared a strike on the Great Northern finds the strike extended over all the lines of the company except a short distance from this city, and of the 449 miles of the system only 200 miles are in operation tonight. This has been accomplished thus far without anything that threatened bloodshed and the men say there is no sufficient cause for the strike. They are determined, however, and will allow no trains to be made up or moved.

SYMPATHY AT HELENA. HELENA (Mont.), April 17.—An immense meeting of citizens was held in the Auditorium tonight to take action on the Great Northern strike. Speeches were made by railroad men, prominent business men and others. Resolutions were adopted stating that the Great Northern had reduced the pay of employees to below that of other transcontinental lines and to a point where it is not sufficient to support the men and their families and the men as a last resort had struck to protect their rights and extending to employees their sympathy in their struggle for living wages and best wishes for a speedy and satisfactory adjustment of the matters in dispute.

A COUNTER MOVE. MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.), April 17.—A Seattle (Wash.) special to the Journal says: Officers of the A.R.U. say that the first move made by the Great Northern to hire non-union men will be met by a strike on the Northern Pacific and Canadian Pacific lines. Last night Northern Pacific men refused to move Great Northern freight.

THE A.R.U. AHEAD. MINNEAPOLIS (Minn.), April 17.—Specials to the Journal from St. Paul and the Great Northern come to show the attitude of the brotherhood men is becoming more favorable to the A.R.U. cause. At St. Cloud, Minn., where the strike was ordered, the men of the brotherhood men refused to work with the non-union men. If the federated orders maintain their position they will be forced to go out on strike. The company attempts to hire non-union men.

At Earlsville and Fergus Falls, Minn., non-union men went to work. It is believed the Twin City A.R.U. men and those through the State will not be ordered out much before Saturday. Advice to the A.R.U. from St. Paul, Minn., says that the strike is being kept up to the effect that the tie-up began promptly at midnight.

ATTEMPT TO MOVE TRAINS. DEVILS LAKE (N. D.), April 17.—Another unsuccessful attempt to move a passenger train was made by the company today. A meeting held last night by the conductors and trainmen decided to stand by the strikers. No disturbance of any kind has yet occurred here.

STRIKERS ON A RAMPAGE. ST. CLOUD (Minn.), April 17.—The strikers broke up a passenger train today and scattered the cars around the yards, the passengers being returned to the station. The dispatchers in the office here have been ordered to stop the trains.

MINERS OUT AT DUBOIS. DUBOIS (Pa.), April 17.—The Bell, Lewis and Yates companies' miners employed here, numbering 1000, quit work at noon today.

Resuming Normal Conditions. CONNELLSVILLE (Pa.), April 17.—Although the strikers parade the roads no assaults are being made, and fires are being started throughout the coke region. The order for a general strike next Saturday night is not to be observed here. By that time the entire region will be at work.

THE TEXAS CAPITOL.

A Tilt in Court During the Progress of the Case.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.

CHICAGO, April 17.—In the Texas Capitol case, on trial here today, John V. Farwell and plaintiff's attorney, McCarthy, had a warm war over Farwell's reference to Mr. Rogers, now deceased, as a "fall-bird." After a brief tilt, Mr. Farwell said he could not swear that Rogers had been in jail, and the scene ended.

The men of the supposed disappearance of $51,000 of the first 100 of debentures, in a letter from Mr. Sturges, was the basis of a question by Mr. McCarthy, who asked whether these bonds were got out of the way by the Farwell Company.

"That question is ridiculous, for it infers that we had got a bond over Mr. McCarthy's head," Mr. Farwell answered Mr. Farwell. "If we had stolen any of the bonds we would have been arrested before this."

"I hardly think so," Mr. McCarthy retorted. "You seem to have been pretty fortunate thus far."

To finish the cross-examination of Mr. Farwell required the time of the entire afternoon session. The inquiry became a little bit breezy when Attorney McCarthy asked about the suits which Sturges had instituted, and received an answer not to his liking.

"How many suits had Sturges commenced in 1891?" was the opening question.

"Five," replied Farwell. "Name one," challenged the attorney. The defendant thought a moment and admitted that he had named one. "They may have been in 1892," he finally explained.

"Then why did you say in '91?" thundered Mr. McCarthy, aroused by the carelessness of Mr. Farwell.

"Are you here to swear to things by wholesale?" Mr. McCarthy shouted back at Mr. Farwell.

"Don't you know very well there were no suits until '92?" went on the lawyer. "My memory is not good on dates," put in a compromising tone, "and I may have been mistaken. It was probably in '92."

Ex-Senator C. B. Farwell will probably take the stand tomorrow.

GEN. SLOCUM.

The Remains of the Veteran Buried With Military Honors.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.

BROOKLYN (N. Y.), April 17.—The funeral services for the remains of Gen. Henry W. Slocum were held at 2 o'clock this afternoon, in the Church of the Messiah. There was a large military escort, including State National Guards, Grand Army of the Republic, and the Army of the Potomac; also members of the Legislature, Board of Aldermen and Board of Supervisors, and various members of official and social institutions, in which the dead commander was interested. Services were conducted by Rev. Dr. C. R. Baker, assisted by Rev. Dr. Storrs, who delivered the eulogy.

After the funeral rites in the church the march to Greenwood Cemetery was taken up, and, on reaching that historic burying-ground, the body was placed in a casket lying previous to final interment.

A military salute was fired, and this was followed by a "widow's" by a bugler. The public buildings in the city were closed at noon. About five thousand men were in line, and a vast concourse of people were stationed all along the line of march to witness the last rites to the commander.

A TORPEDO.

One of the Rebel Vessels Is Destroyed.

The Remaining Warships in Dilapidated Condition—The Amnesty Proposition—De Mello's Conduct Meets With General Contempt.

MONTEVIDEO, April 17.—(By Brazilian Cable, Associated Press Copyright, 1894.) An official dispatch to the Brazilian legation here has been received saying the rebel warship Aquidauana, formerly flagship of De Mello, has been sunk off Santa Catharina by Brazilian torpedo-boats.

BUENOS AYRES, April 17.—(By Brazilian Cable, Associated Press Copyright, 1894.) The remains of the Brazilian rebel fleet commanded by Admiral de Mello, which arrived in this port last night, are subject to extensive exchanges of the authorities at this place and the Brazilian government through the Brazilian Minister here.

The rebel ships are the Republica, Melrose, Iris, Uruba and Esperanza. They are in a very dilapidated condition, and the rebels on board suffering from sickness, wounds and lack of proper food. Admiral de Mello, who is believed to have been taken to Rio de Janeiro state that amnesty will be granted the insurgent rank and file, and the Brazilian government will pay quarantine expenses of the ships if they surrender to the Brazilian Minister.

President Pélizzotti's government has notified the government of Uruguay that all, with the exception of the leaders, who may return to Uruguay, need not fear being severely punished. Nothing seems known of the ultimate destination of Admiral de Mello and Gen. Cordero, although it is believed the former will take the earliest opportunity of escaping to a foreign country, where he can hide himself for the rest of his life.

On all sides the utmost contempt is expressed for Admiral de Mello, whose desertion of Admiral da Gama is looked upon as a betrayal. It is believed that the former will take the earliest opportunity of escaping to a foreign country, where he can hide himself for the rest of his life.

THE BRAZILIAN FLEET. LONDON, April 17.—The Times this morning publishes a dispatch from Montevideo, confirming the advice received yesterday by the Associated Press, in regard to the surrender of the rebel Brazilian fleet, which arrived off Buenos Ayres Monday night. The Times correspondent says De Mello and 1200 men yielded themselves up to the Argentine government.

DA GAMA'S FRIENDS. NEW YORK, April 17.—The Herald's Montevideo special says that the launch of the Portuguese Consul here, on a visit to the Portuguese man-of-war Mindeio, at her anchorage, and brought back a letter to be read from Admiral da Gama, who is detained aboard the Mindeio. This letter was addressed to the Brazilian Minister, Gen. Martinez. It was sent to Buenos Ayres. There has been some suspicion aroused in that city by the dispatch of the Portuguese transport, Pedro Tercero, that Da Gama's friends are laying another plot to rescue him from the Portuguese warship.

TRANSPORTATION.

U. S. Consul Tremiski on North and South American Trade.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—United States Consul James Tremiski, at Callao, Peru, says the small amount of trade between the United States and the west coast of South America is due to inadequate means of transportation. A cyclone, he says, is now prevailing in the isthmus, said he could have gone from Valparaiso to Buenos Ayres, thence to Europe, then to the United States, for $15 more; that he could travel 12,000 miles on the Atlantic against 4600 on the Pacific for $15 more.

The Consul shows this is brought about by bad connections and exorbitant charges, and suggests the establishment of fast lines from New Orleans and New York to Colon, also to the west coast of South America, which would secure a large trade for United States merchants.

PACIFIC RAILWAYS.

The Attorney-General Replies to the House Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The Speaker today laid before the House a letter from Atty.-Gen. Olney, replying to the resolution, asking for certain information concerning the status of the Pacific road matter. The Attorney-General submits a copy of a letter from the special counsel of the government, Hon. George Hoadley, who says the Union Pacific Railroad has not been legally affected by anything done in the action, wherein the receivers of that railway have been appointed. For the reason that the United States has not been made a party to such proceedings.

Mr. Hoadley says, that, although he has no special direction from the Attorney-General, yet he felt authorized to enter the appearance of the United States in the action, wherein the receivers of that railway have been appointed. The bearing of the receivership upon the practical interests of the United States, he says, depends upon the character of the receivers and the maintenance of the property by them in the highest condition which their earnings might permit.

He notes the efforts made to secure control of the receivership in the interest of the government, and its final accomplishment by the concession on the part of the gentlemen having control of the suits of which the receivers were appointed, of two additional receivers, and the Attorney-General. For this purpose the Attorney-General selected John W. Doane and F. R. Coudert. Mr. Hoadley says that, even this has confirmed his opinion that S. H. H. C. is president of the company, and Oliver W. Mink, vice-president and comptroller, while designated for the positions of receivers of the property.

He further appears from Mr. Hoadley's letters that he prepared a bill incorporating part at least of the additional receivership, and the National indebtedness due by the company to the United States. Many conferences have taken place between himself and the committee on the subject, and he has been selected by the committee to represent the company and other interests in the property and some of which were participated in by the Attorney-General.

"As yet," he says, "we have not been able to agree upon legislation which seemed to the parties, myself and me on the one side, and the committee on the other side, would be suitable to work out the desired results."

THE BANK-WRECKERS.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 17.—The morning session of the Federal Court here, in the case of the National Bank wreckers was devoted to showing the fraudulent sale of the Boston branch of the Indianapolis National Bank to Thomas L. Pierce, of Boston. He had been an employee of the bank company and the day of its assignment, the Boston concern was transferred to him for his notes and those notes were sold for a "song" at auction in New York. The fraud of the sale was brought out in relief and the government's case was greatly strengthened.

John M. Dickerson, president of the American Bank and Seating Co., of Chicago, was another witness and testified he knew nothing of the sale in drafts that were drawn on him by the bank company and turned into the bank as collateral.

"Yes, you have," said Maney, and the captain again insisted that he had not. Then the witness said Maney pulled a pistol, but could not hear the reply.

Capt. Hedberg kept the packages under both arms during the conversation. The witness said Maney said to him: "Now, you have shot me."

The trial is progressing rapidly, only three witnesses remaining to be examined.

As a result he fought a desperate battle. He bit out a large mouthful of her cheek, then seized her left arm in his mouth and tore it as a dog would. ## THE MONEY QUESTION.

An International Conference at the City of Mexico Is Probable.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Another international monetary conference, this time perhaps to be held in the City of Mexico, is among the probabilities. The representatives, in quietly pressing upon the attention of the powers, the feasibility of again undertaking an adjustment of the monetary question and the time is believed ripe for further efforts in that direction.

Minister Romero has already suggested the matter to this government in a way that does not at this moment require a direct response, and the President, considering the possibility, for undoubtedly the success of the undertaking will depend in a large measure upon the support of the United States. The President's official reply, too, is of the first importance and the report that she will limit her representatives to that of India hardly realizes the hopes of the advocates, though it may not defeat the meeting.

He also wished to see a quarterly bulletin issued by the society. He scored those guilty of criminal abortion or infanticide and said a recent glaring conviction among many acquittals seemed rather to have created a condition of complacency in the society. ## CALLED TO PLEAD.

Vinette is Taken from a County Jail.

With His Lieutenants He Insists on a Jury Trial.

They Have Sent to Los Angeles for Legal Aid.

The 'Frisco Unemployed Do Not Get Away—Soldiers Impaired at Fremont—Kelly's Men Drenched by a Rainstorm.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.
SAN BERNARDINO, April 17.—This morning the members of the Army of Unemployed, now under arrest, were taken from the County Jail to Colton to plead before Justice Bingham on a charge of attempting to defraud the Southern Pacific Railroad of fares. These men were "Col." Vinette, James S. Bernard, Thomas J. Cook, Al Thompson, F. Peterson, C. H. O'Brien, George H. Blanchard and Frank J. Cook, who pleaded not guilty. They at once made preparations to furnish the required amount of bail with the intention of going out on the street to deliver inflammatory speeches. They were prevented from doing this by the District Attorney filing against them complaints charging them with the crime of inciting riot.

The men under arrest propose to get even with the county by piling up costs. After pleading not guilty to the first charge, each one demanded a separate jury trial and proceeded to subpoena every member of the army as witnesses in his case, thereby hoping to give all of their comrades a job at $2 per day during the trial of the eight different cases, but in this scheme the army will be sadly disappointed. "Col." Vinette's case on the charge of defrauding the railroad was set for tomorrow and will come up at 10 o'clock. The hearing of charges of riot was set for next Thursday.

"Col." Vinette has sent a representative to the authorities of Riverside to represent to them that the army has given that county little trouble in the past and will give none in the future. Riverside county will not furnish aquisition of money, clothes and food to keep them alive while they are contending with the authorities here. The officials of this city have communicated with Riverside requesting non-compliance with the demand and to assist, by non-interference, in getting rid of the army. Very little is being contributed to the army in this county, but the embargo on traffic with the merchants has been raised and they are selling their supplies for cash.

Last night the army received about thirty new additions to its ranks and the total number is now about 125. The City Marshal of Colton has received the following dispatch from Los Angeles, signed, Theo. Pinther: "Please make a statement of how much money the authorities found in the person of Arthur Vinette by searching him. Also please state how many men he has at his command." The rank and file of the army are still in the old camp at Colton with no prospects of moving except when started out. "Col." Vinette and his associates in jail sent several telegrams to Los Angeles today for the purpose of securing legal advisers, declaring they would employ none in this city.

THE DEFENSE.

"Commander" Vinette was arraigned this morning, charged with inciting riot. He made an eloquent speech and pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial. His companions made the same demand. Vinette will be tried at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Will A. Harris will assist the prosecution. Two Los Angeles attorneys that will be engaged for the defense. The army is quiet tonight.

BOXED FOR THE EAST.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The second regiment of the California Industrial Army starts East tonight in twenty box cars, provided by the Southern Pacific Railway Company. The necessary arrangements have been made by the city authorities. The Southern Pacific carries the men to Mojave, where they are turned over to the Atlantic and Pacific. The total cost of transportation per car is about $100.

The army is largely made up of mechanics, who say they have no desire to advance on Washington, but they want to see their homes in the East. Great care has been taken in selecting the quota of 500, the Chief of Police overseeing all consignments and taking pains that the vicious and professionally unemployed element is eliminated as far as possible. The city consented to defray the expenses of these men to the East upon representations that they were attracted hither by false hopes of obtaining work during the Midwinter Fair, and they have now no means of returning to their homes.

Later—The 500 unemployed did not leave as intended, owing to the inability of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad to procure a sufficient number of box-cars to transport the men from Mojave, when they shall have been delivered at that point to the Southern Pacific. The cars will probably be secured in time to permit of the departure of the army tomorrow. The Board of Supervisors has appropriated $2000 for the transportation of the army as far East as Chicago. The men are without provisions and must depend on the generosity of the people of the towns through which they will pass en route to Chicago.

FIRE WITH "MILITARY" ZEAL.
SALT LAKE, April 17.—The workmen held a meeting here tonight and decided to raise an industrial army to go to Washington. About 200 enlistments were made. A great labor meeting is to be held on Saturday night next, at which they say they will get 1000 recruits.

IN THE EAST.

The Washington Authorities Laying Plans to Receive Coxey.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.
WASHINGTON, April 17.—While the police authorities of Washington are not making their plans in advance, they are laying active preparations to receive "Gen." Coxey and the Commonwealth Army. Two members of the detective branch of the force, Officers Quinlan and Boyd, were sent to join the army at Cumberland on Saturday. Their business will be to make the acquaintance of any criminals who may be enlisted in the ranks, and to learn the true inwardness of the movement, if it conceals any sinister designs.

Col. Redstone, the local manager of the Commonwealth, visited police headquarters today, to labor with Inspector Hollenberger and convince him the purpose of the movement is beneficent. He pointed out that the crusaders are all law-abiding men and declared they would remain in town but a few hours.

SOLDIERS IMPRISONED.
OMAHA, April 17.—The only trouble in the army was caused by a man from the Black Hills, whom the train-men tried to put off. Conductor Brown was struck with an insulator and his skull was fractured. Some of the men were arrested and imprisoned at Fremont.

AND IT RAINED.

OMAHA, April 17.—"Old Probabilities" did what neither militia nor courts could do—scattered Kelly's army today. Bare boughs offered but little shelter from a Missouri Valley rain-storm and the army now knows just how much water can come from a cloud when it all comes at once. During the entire day Kelly's army clung to their camp in the timber near Park's Mill, waiting for something to turn up. Rations were apt to be curtailed in a few hours and uncertainty of delays suggested the certainty of hunger. And then the rain came. It fell in torrents for a few moments and soon scattered the men in search of shelter. This was extremely scarce. The militia occupied the only buildings in the vicinity and would not allow any Kellyite to enter.

The sun came out warm and bright and the army gathered again, mud-begrimed and bedraggled and something of a feeling of desperation developed. "Gen." Kelly was in Omaha, where he had been all day, and his return to camp at nightfall was anxiously waited for by the men. When Kelly went back to camp he took with him $150 in cash and three wagons loaded with provisions subscribed by the citizens of Omaha.

Shortly after Kelly's return to camp rain began to fall steadily and it looked like the shower would continue all night. This rendered the situation of the men almost unbearable. Quite a sensation has been developed in Council Bluffs against Gov. Jackson for his action in calling out the militia. The citizens angrily protest that they had been in unnecessary expense. So far there has been no clash between the authorities and Kelly's men and none is expected. Today papers were prepared for an application for an order to restrain the Governor from further interference with the army. The papers were filed, however, as the expediency of such a move was doubted. One mother, who is a member of a militia company, came to the office to inquire if she could not get her boy back.

"He has been sleeping on the ground these nights," she said, "and I just know he will be sick."

In an interview Gov. Jackson denied the troops were called out on his motion. He said the request came from Sheriff Hazen of Pottawatomie county, who said he would need the militia to maintain order during the stay of the army in his county.

A Gov. Jackson says he was not requested by the railroad companies to protect their property. During the day the Western Union Telegraph Company put in a telegraph wire to the camp. A message has just been received saying that the men are becoming restless and it seems almost certain some decisive move will be made during the night. All the railroad tracks in the vicinity are patrolled by the militia-men and even the depot is guarded so closely that a reporter was compelled to get a permit from Adj. Gen. Pryne before he could gain entrance to file a message.

THE MONTANA COMMUNE.
BUTTE (Mont.), April 17.—The Butte contingent, 500 strong, of the Commonwealth Army, which styles itself the "Montana Commune," did not start for Washington, as previously arranged. "Marshal" Hogan concluded to wait for the Coeur d'Alene division, which numbers 400, and which will arrive in Butte tomorrow or next day. The Commune will travel via the Union Pacific.

COXEY'S INTENTIONS.
BALTIMORE, April 17.—A special to the Sun from the canal boats near Green, Springs has an interview with "Gen." Coxey, outlining his intentions at Washington. His purport is that the army will not disband, but will permanently encamp at Washington and be maintained there until Congress either adjourns or passes the legislation he desires.

THE BOHEMIAN COMMUNE.

BALTIMORE, April 17.—The Bohemian Commune of the Army of the Commonwealth was organized today by sixty-four residents of North Baltimore.

GRAIN CONGRESS.

The North and South to Join in a Commercial Organization.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.

WICHITA (Kan.), April 17.—The National Grain Congress, which opened here today, is largely attended by grain men from all over Southern Kansas and Oklahoma, as well as delegates from South Carolina, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Iowa and Minnesota. The object of the congress is to formulate plans to secure an outlet for Southern and Southwestern products to the Gulf of Mexico. The New Orleans delegation is a strong one and they are working hard for the Crescent City.

Col. Day of the New Orleans Piquette made a remarkable speech in favor of commercial and social relations between the West and the South. It is compared by all here to the famous speech of Henry Grady at the New England dinner. Gov. Lewelling of Kansas and many Southern commercial organizations sent telegrams of hearty congratulation. Many valuable papers outlining the necessity for a commercial alliance between the South and West were read.

A permanent organization was effected as follows: President, ex-Mayor George W. Clement of Wichita; vice-presidents, S. A. Jones of Florida, H. A. Hall of Alabama, J. E. Hall of Louisiana, Mr. Grimes of Oklahoma, C. E. Potts of Kansas, George Schoule of Nebraska, Col. Wiggins of Colorado, D. A. Permut of Missouri, J. H. Anderson of Minnesota and David Meyers of Iowa; secretaries, Col. West of Alabama, A. C. Jones of Kansas; treasurer, A. W. Oliver of Kansas.

A FORECLOSURE SALE.

A Bill Filed in the United States Court Against the Sioux City Terminal.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.
SIOUX CITY, April 17.—A bill of complaint was filed in the United States Court by the North American Trust Company, asking for a decree of foreclosure for $1,250,000 of bonds against the Sioux City Terminal Railway and Warehouse Company's tracks, depots and property in this city, because of default in the payment of January interest. This is the terminal property of the Sioux City and Northern road, controlled by J. K. Hill, of the Great Northern, who is known to hold many of the Terminal company's bonds now in default. The property comprises the finest yardage and switching system in Iowa, the union passenger station, two freight depots, a mammoth warehouse and much movable property. It is the key to the railway situation in Sioux City. It is a question here as to whether Hill or the Credit Commutation Company, an organization of the creditors of the railroad and bridge properties, will get the property at the foreclosure sale.

ARMY CHANGES.

Officers in the Pay Corps Assigned to New Posts.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.
WASHINGTON, April 17.—Secretary Lamont has made some important changes in the detail of the officers of the pay corps of the army. W. F. Tucker has been relieved from duty at Washington, and ordered to St. Paul; Maj. C. I. Wilson, from San Francisco to Washington; Maj. A. E. Bates, from New York to Washington, and Maj. A. F. Towner from Santa Fe to New York. Capt. W. L. Fletcher has been relieved from duty at army headquarters here, and ordered to join his regiment at Fort Washakie, Wyo.

THE CENSUS.

A Satisfactory Adjustment of the Work is Expected.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Census officials are confident that a thoroughly satisfactory adjustment of the work of the eleventh census will result from the carrying into effect of the bill which just passed Congress, providing for the extension of the time for the completion of the work to March 4 next.

Superintendent of Census Wright said today the extension of time was for the purpose of allowing proof-reading to be done by those most familiar with the census volumes. The statements that the census reports are being "doctored" is absurd. The reports are being brought out in all integrity. No facts collected for the eleventh census have been in any way suppressed or changed. As the superintendent originally declared officially that it was to be purely a statistical census, the present administration is trying to conform with that declaration.

QUEEN VICTORIA.

Coburg Decorated in Her Honor—A Mass of Flowers.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.
COBURG, April 17.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The city is a mass of decorations, the main thoroughfares being spanned by arches. At the first of the arches Queen Victoria was met by the Mayor and Council of Coburg, who presented Her Majesty with an address of welcome. At this arch the Queen also reviewed her German regiment, the First Dragon Guards, which Emperor William had sent to Coburg in order to escort Her Majesty during her stay here.

Another grand military reception followed on the Schloss Platz in front of the Ducal Palace, where the Queen will stay until after the wedding. At the Ducal Palace Queen Victoria was received in the throneroom by all the members of the imperial and royal families present. All the church bells throughout the city were joyfully rung in honor of the arrival of the Queen of England. At 8:25 this evening the Prince of Wales arrived.

IN BOW STREET.

A Solicitor Charged With Defrauding an American.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.
LONDON, April 17.—(By Atlantic Cable.) At the Bow-street Police Court Howell Thomas, a solicitor, was charged with obtaining by false pretenses the sum of $1100 from Col. J. F. Jacques, the American claimant for the C. H. Townley estate. The counsel for the plaintiff said that the prisoner's defense was that Col. Jacques was an American adventurer, was a matter which another tribunal would have to pass upon. Thomas was remanded, bail being refused.

KANSAS BONDS.

The School Fund Securities Bought by Populists are Good.

Associated Press Leased-Wire Service.
TOPEKA, April 17.—State Superintendent Gaines is in receipt of a letter from H. H. Cockran, County Treasurer of Kearney county, informing him that the $10,000 bonds of that county, bought by the Republican Board of State School Fund Commissioners, have been declared to be illegal by the Federal courts, but the $13,500 bonds of that county, bought by the Populist board, are of a different series, and interest is paid upon them regularly.

AMUSEMENTS TONIGHT.

LOS ANGELES THEATRE—Hazel Kirke.
DURBAN THEATRE—A Noble Rogue.
NO ROYAL ROAD.

Whatever leads to the deterioration of self-respecting manhood is to be deplored, and on such grounds, as well as many others, the honest and self-respecting portion of a community naturally deplores the massing of men who demand public assistance as their right, and who, like the so-called "industrial army," at Colton, are willing objects of a compelled charity, upon which they have planted their dependence without just claims. The morality of men suffers under such conditions of stand-and-deliver assistance, which is forced from an overburdened community. As the good and wise Bishop Brooks once very truly said: "Not until you make men self-reliant, intelligent, and fond of struggle—fond of struggle than of mere help, not till then have you relieved poverty."

Among this mass of deluded creatures, led by known pretenders, liars and swindlers, there are doubtless many good, honest workmen, who would work if work could be had, but they have, unfortunately, associated themselves with a large contingent of the genus tramp and idler, who have entered this so-called "industrial army," which is gathering from all parts of the land, and whose chief aim in life is to live without work. The tramp and idler are the struggle to keep clear of all earnest endeavor to become self-sustaining.

A noticeable fact in connection with these so-called armies is the utter worthlessness and unreliability of their leaders. Take, for instance, Carl Browne, of most unenviable reputation, and Coxe, his "affinity," who are seeking to inspire their followers with a sort of religious fanaticism that is as unwarrantable as it is absurd; Fry, the man whose reputation for honesty and integrity of character is anything but what it should be; Vinette, the inciter of mobs, an inflammatory, foreign agitator, and the scamp who made a league of his fellow-carpetbaggers very sorry that they trusted him upon a certain occasion; and other warriors—"adjutants" in the "army" at Colton—a foul-mouthed liar, forger, wife-deserter, and fraudulent debtor.

There must be something vitally wrong in the predominant make-up of "armies" whose "soldiers" are willing to follow the leadership of men like these. We may rest assured that the majority of these "armies" is not of the self-respecting class—men who are fond of struggle, and who have an intense desire for an honestly-earned independence. "Thou shalt not kill the soul of man by feeding his stomach," is a commandment that it would be wise for communities to heed who are thoughtlessly bestowing an indiscriminate charity upon these gathering masses.

Every intelligent person recognizes the fact that it is one of the most sacred duties of society to see that none of its members perish from destitution and want. This obligation, however, is purely a moral one which our regard for humanity compels us to fulfill. But the "army" at Colton seems to be acting upon the fatal maxim, "The world owes me a living and a living I will have," whether I work for it or not, and it is highway robbery, pure and simple, to lawlessness on the part of the members of these "armies" is not in keeping with the character of the honest and law-abiding citizen, nor with the spirit of our institutions. If poverty were a sufficient sanction for the non-observance of the rights of property guaranteed each individual by the Constitution of the country, there would be the safety of community rest, or security from lawless depredation be found?

It is a terrible mistake which attributes all the suffering and hardships of poverty to the wrong-doing of some one else. Is this true? Is not the whole wide field of industrial effort open to every one alike as he is capable of filling a place in it? The men who are going about crying out against the wrongs of society are a part of the society of whose acts they complain, and they must be held accountable for their share in existing evils. There is no chance for a man in danger of losing his trade, and the rich man is in danger of losing his money, and neither man is safe without the other, and what is also true, neither man is wise enough without the other, or efficient enough without the other, to reach the goal of a settled condition where unity and contentment make the joy of life. Capital must wait on labor, labor must wait on capital; they must both wait on the market which is made by the people, and they must all wait a time with patience for legislators to give both labor and capital the legal protection they seek. In the meantime, it is well to believe that "life is worth living," and that we shall all presently have enough work to do, and to trust the government under which we live for wholesome laws, because it is the best government on the earth. If we do this, ultimately all will be well. Meantime, we can seize the ballot and reform the laws and the administration thereof if they don't suit us.

A MALICIOUS ATTACK.

About a month ago the Redlands Citigraph published a somewhat sensational account of a discovery which it claimed to have made to the effect that the Riverside Fruit Exchange was packing frozen fruit in wrappers bearing the name of Thacker Bros. The same paper also published what it claimed to be an interview with Manager Perry of the exchange, a statement which that gentleman afterward denounced as a malicious falsehood. Without waiting to investigate the matter or give the accused parties a hearing, and acting apparently entirely on the statements of the Citigraph, the Redlands Chamber of Commerce held a special meeting, passed a series of resolutions denouncing what it termed the "fraud" and ordered 400 extra copies of the Citigraph to be sent broadcast over the country. The incident was also telegraphed to the press of this and other States and naturally gave rise to much unfavorable criticism of the methods of the exchange.

In the Produce Trade Reporter of Chicago of April 7 Thacker Bros. enter a complete and emphatic denial of the charge which was made against them in the course of which they say:

"A purchaser of a carload of fruit wants to swindle the consumer, no exchange or dealer can prevent it as long as California growers insist on shipping frozen fruit. Why should it not be to more purpose for the California exchanges and papers to expend their efforts in preventing growers from marketing frozen fruit than to abuse and vilify all dealers who do not sooner the different localities in California concede that each locality has good and bad fruit, the better it will be for the State. If Redlands fruit is better than Riverside, you can safely leave it to the purchaser to find it out, and you can depend upon it they will see that they get such fruit, and any other shipped, if not equal, will promptly meet rejection. Even Redlands fruit is not all equal; there are growers that take every care possible of their groves, thus raising better fruit than one who neglects it."

Manager Perry also brands the article in the Citigraph as a deliberately malicious falsehood, and said he had made no such statements as are credited to him in that paper. He further states that the exchange has no contract with Thacker Bros. to pack inferior fruit. Also that they have had a contract of years with another firm located in Minneapolis, which is also implicated in this affair by the Citigraph.

It is evident that the auburn-haired editor of the Citigraph, to-wit, Scipio Craig, the would-be State Printer, has either gone off at half-cock and made an ass of himself, or else has deliberately gone to work to create a sensation, and, incidentally, selling a few hundred extra copies of his paper. In either case it is a creditable piece of business; nor is the action of the Redlands Chamber of Commerce such as that body can afford to contemplate with any degree of pride or satisfaction. They would do well to reverse it.

ELIXIRS OF LIFE.

Prof. Brown-Squard, who died a couple of weeks ago in Paris, had dropped entirely out of sight during the past few years. His theory as to the discovery of a wonderful elixir which would prolong human existence evidently proved unavailable or it would have enabled him to prolong his own life. Dr. Squard is not the first scientific man to imagine that he had discovered such a secret, nor will he undoubtedly be the last. From the earliest ages the foundation of eternal youth has been sought after by man and sought in vain. Those who are anxious to attain long life would do well to realize as soon as possible that there is only one road that surely leads in that direction. It is not a new road, and to many it is not a particularly attractive one, involving as it does a large amount of determination and self-denial. That road is the one which lies parallel and as close as possible to the laws of nature. There is no secret about this highway, which is open to all who would follow it, and yet how few there are who do so. It is an easy thing to take some preparation out of a bottle, but to temperate in all things, to control the passions and to take a regular amount of exercise requires determination and self-control that are not common. This is why so many elixirs are anxiously looking for some elixir which will prolong their lives without interfering with any of their enjoyment.

THE NEWS—TRUTH VERSUS HUMBUG.

When a public journal attempts to deceive its readers—to deceive intelligent people—it makes the greatest mistake of which any journal is capable. When it acts upon the assumption that the average newspaper reader is not intelligent, but needs to be instructed by it as to what constitutes news and a newspaper, it makes another blunder of the grossest sort, and insults its readers.

These remarks apply to an evening paper of this city—the Express—which is continually guilty of the very acts described above. It forgets that the keen, critical, discriminating, exacting newspaper readers of today, especially those of advanced communities of California, are their own judges of news and newspapers, and repudiate the constant, dogmatic, arrogant practice of the Express in attempting to teach them on a subject of which they are masters. A public newspaper cannot win merely by egotistically proclaiming its own merits and brazenly asserting its own superiority; such practices are evidences of cheap and meretricious qualities. The press must submit to the inevitable arbitrament of the public judgment, which cannot be evaded, but either carries journals forward to well-earned fame or sends them down to deserved obscurity at will. It is the readers, not the editor, who are judges as to whether the newspaper is "live" and "leading," or otherwise. If those judges have decided in favor of this evening pretender, the judgment is not of record "if the court knows herself."

The Evening Express would have the public believe its footstep claim that it prints all the news before the morning papers, that practically nothing occurs at any hour of the day, in any part of the world, unless it is just in time for the evening paper, and either too late or too early for the morning papers! That will do to relate to the marines, who were never celebrated for newspaper reading.

To give a practical illustration of the absurdity of the editorial blowing of the evening appendix, let the events of a single day—and a dull day at that—be marshaled in columns, and then "behold how plain a tale shall put him down!"

All the events, happenings and other facts noted briefly below, and which appear in extenso in our news columns, occurred yesterday, or last night—some of them early yesterday—and yet NOT ONE OF THEM was recorded in the Los Angeles Express of last evening!

throughout the State that the Midwinter Fair partakes too much of the nature of a Midway Plaisance. Such a brutal exhibition as this, under the sanction of the Executive Committee, would certainly go a long way to confirm the public in that opinion.

The Germans appear to have been acting in a very brutal manner toward the natives of the Cameroons country. Atrocities were committed which would make an Apache Indian jealous. Native women were outraged in a wholesale manner and some of the men who objected were skinned alive. This is not a very effective manner in which to convince the natives of the Dark Continent that the civilization of Europe is much superior to theirs. The affair has caused quite a sensation in Berlin, where one of the leading newspapers admits that the atrocities are too horrible for publication. It is probable that the Emperor William, who, apart from some occasional peculiarities and a somewhat exaggerated idea of his importance, is a well-meaning young man, will have something to say in regard to this affair, which the people of Germany cannot help considering as a national disgrace.

A contemporary, referring to the chance of Americans finding employment on the Nicaragua Canal, intimates that it would be impossible for American laborers to stand the climate of that country. This is to a great extent a mistaken idea. It is true that in the flat, low-lying regions of the country, which are exposed to inundations from the streams, the climate is malarious and often fatal to Europeans; but, in the more elevated interior regions, the climate is mild, generally healthy, and well-suited to European constitutions. It would be quite practicable to utilize white labor along the more healthy portions of the route, while employing negroes and natives in those sections which are dangerous to the health of white men.

It is remarkable that any city should leave itself in such a hopeless condition before an attack of fire as that in which Santa Cruz found itself on Saturday last. Now that the damage has been done a large amount of money and energy will doubtless be expended in making preparations for protection against fire in the future. A city should always take care that its fire department and water supply are in perfect order, as a conflagration generally comes when it is least expected.

San Francisco commenced a season of carnival yesterday which will last three days. Our northern neighbor will undoubtedly "spread itself" and give a most interesting display. In course of time we may expect to see a series of carnivals or fiestas in all the leading cities of the State, which will do much to attract visitors from the East, and furnish them with entertainment while they are here.

That was a happy and successful social event which occurred last evening—the serenade to Max Meyberg, Esq., by some of his appreciative fellow-citizens, and the subsequent proceedings at the delightful rooms of the Concordia Club.

Henry Watterson, the famous editor and publicist, spoke last evening with force, facility and felicity to a small, but appreciative audience at the Grand Opera-house.

AMUSEMENT RECORD.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

LOS ANGELES THEATRE.—"Doris" was presented again last night at the Los Angeles Theatre and tonight Miss Ellsler will appear as Hazel Kirke in the beautiful play of that name.

BURBANK THEATRE.—There was another good audience at the Burbank Theatre last night to witness the production of Steele Mackaye's play, "A Noble Rogue," with George Osborne as the hero.

The play is well staged, and with the full strength of the Cooper company the performance is a very pleasing one. It will occupy the boards for the remainder of the week.

THE WOMEN WRITERS.

A Large Delegation on the Way to California.

A large delegation from the National Women's Press Association will arrive in the city some time next week, en route to the Midwinter Fair, where they will attend the Women's Congresses. This unique body of women is composed of the most noted pen-women of the land, many of them having a world-wide fame. It was the first organization ever formed, and draws its membership from all parts of the United States, among its representatives on this Coast being Mrs. Laura de Force Gordon of San Francisco, and Mrs. Abigail Scott-Dunaway of Oregon, and Mary Whitney-Emerson, who illustrates her own articles so beautifully, will make a specialty of California, and will be en route, for future use. Among the party will be Mrs. Richardson of Boston, one of the judges of awards at the World's Fair, who, in token of the capability, was selected to write the history of ceramic art of the world.

The association was founded in 1882, and has a membership of nearly two hundred. The trip is planned so as to see as much of the country as possible, and it is only fitting that the people of Los Angeles should unite in doing honor to these talented and famous women. Prof. Lowe has kindly tendered them an invitation up his mountain railway, and Mr. Wincup has extended the courtesies of the Terminal Railway. It is not yet definitely known on what day the association will arrive, but preparations are under way for a fitting reception.

The Southern California branch of the Pacific Coast Women's Press Association has the honor to co-operate with the other associations of women in this city in order to make the reception substantial and the reputation Los Angeles has gained for courtesy and hospitality.

A special meeting for the purpose of completing the arrangements will be held at the parlors of the Nassau Hotel Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and it is hoped that representatives from the different women's societies will be present.

As soon as the exact date of their arrival is known it will be made public through the columns of the daily press, and a request made for flowers with which to decorate Unity Church, where the reception will be held.

English Hospitality.

(London Tit-Bits.) Commenting on the alleged lack of hospitality in England, a Parisian says that a Londoner whom he had been entertaining and who had been very hospitable and kind, "Now, when you come to London, be sure and call on me—don't forget—and I'll recommend you to a good hotel."

IN SOCIAL SPHERES.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Orr on Buena Vista street was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday evening at 6 o'clock, the occasion being the marriage of their daughter, Miss Virginia Orr, and Percy Schumacher. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Smith of the Christian Church, the bride and groom standing in a beautifully decorated bay window. This was arranged with graceful festoons of smilax and hanging baskets of pink duchesne roses. The bride looked lovely in an elegant gown of white duchesne satin, with bertha of point lace, and carried a bouquet of white carnations. She wore a handsome diamond star-shaped brooch, and a pair of pearls. Miss Elsie Orr was maid of honor, and wore a pretty gown of pink silk, trimmed with white lace. After the ceremony supper was served in the dining-room, which was decorated in white carnations. The centerpiece on the table was of this flower and at both ends candles were placed. The candles being covered with dainty green shades. Between the drawing-rooms were also portieres of white roses and smilax, while the main hall was decorated with sprays of bride roses. The presents were very handsome and consisted of bric-a-brac, silver, jewelry and many useful articles.

Mrs. Schumacher left on the 7:45 train for San Francisco, where they will stay about ten days. The wedding was very quiet, only the immediate members of the families being present. After their return from the North Mr. and Mrs. Schumacher will reside at 921 Grand avenue.

HAWAIIAN SOCIAL.

An Hawaiian social was given last evening at the residence of Mrs. Thomas Bassett, corner of Adams street and Maple avenue. It was under the auspices of the young ladies of the Hawaiian Club, and St. John's Episcopal Church. The spacious grounds were illuminated with Japanese lanterns, while the interior of the house was decorated with roses. A number of Hawaiian photographs were displayed, and in the archway between the drawing-rooms was the motto of the Sandwich Islands in the native language, "The life of the land is established by righteousness." The guests were received by Mrs. D. Mason, Miss Bassett, Rev. H. W. Taylor and a number of the young ladies of the club. Mrs. Mason, who has lately returned from Honolulu, gave an interesting talk relative to the islands. She crossed herself as in the case of the provisional government. At the conclusion of her remarks Hawaiian refreshments were served, consisting of pol. candy, banana pudding, and other native delicacies. A vote was taken by the ladies regarding the disposition of the islands. The affair was very enjoyable and was well attended.

FLIRTING STILL EXISTS.

New Chatter in Mood the Girl Has Solem.

Eyes and Jaws Wide Open.

Is flirting going out of fashion? It may be changing in form as April weather, woman's mood or a chameleon's hues, but it exists there in small doubt. A correspondent writing on the subject says: "It is said that flirting is out of fashion. That it is no longer the thing for girls to look their admirers in the eyes, and to smile, honest eyes and talk the simple womanly truth to them. If ever a man is in danger of it, when the girl levels her steady, honest eyes at him, and the 'simply womanly' and the adoption of this method only proves that the girls have decided to come straight to business, and that the men have the prerogative of emancipated women, and finally no family could dispense with it."

The history of flirting would include the history of woman's progress. There are as many kinds of flirting as there are girls, but it is safe to say that the flirt is a creature of the present mode. The girls of some seasons past have been all challenge and rally; they have dared and dared the men on all sides and have laughed and threatened. Men have got so used to this method that they have become lazy. It is an odd thing to see a girl leaning back passive and being flirted at. Of course this will never do! Hence this sudden change of method. The old style has ceased to attract, and the new style will be sure to set the men at work. Now, when a girl is introduced, instead of bursting into a flood of sparkling and teasing words, she looks at him with a steady, honest eye, and comes the "simply womanly," and the adoption of this method only proves that the girls have decided to come straight to business, and that the men have the prerogative of emancipated women, and finally no family could dispense with it."

The same girl really knows just as much as the man does. Maybe she told him and showed him as much as last season. If so, the change in the girl's mind is interesting. She takes herself entirely in earnest. She cannot trick her into seeing the joke of the new attitude. Nature is getting to take a

Constitutes True Happiness and How to Attain It—The Worship of Mammon.

Henry Watterson arrived from San Diego on the train yesterday, and was at once driven to the Westminister, where rooms had been engaged for him. He was somewhat indisposed, and immediately on arriving at the hotel retired to his room, where, he remained until time to go to the Opera-house for his lecture.

At San Diego Mr. Watterson was the guest of Gen. Eli H. Murray, at the Hotel Coronado. Gen. Murray and Mr. Watterson are old friends, the general having been formerly engaged in journalism in Louisville, before his appointment as Governor of Utah.

AT THE OPERAHOUSE.

"Money and Morals" Discussed by Mr.
Watterson's Standpoint.

The lecture on "Money and Morals" by Henry Watterson, the well-known editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, at the Grand Opera-house last evening was listened to throughout with the closest attention. The audience was not as large as it should have been.

Mr. Watterson was introduced by James Burdette, Esq., who spoke of him as one whose reputation has come to be not only national but had extended beyond the sea. He said Mr. Watterson is one whose courage and energy have placed him in the foremost ranks of men.

It is recognized, continued Mr. Burdette, that had the Democratic party followed his advice in the last Presidential campaign, that party would not at present be forced to be wading through what may be termed an approach to the open grave.

THE LECTURE.

In beginning the speaker said: "I am going to talk to you as a patriot and not as a partisan." Continuing he said it was his present desire to avoid rather than provoke controversy. There never lived a man who could argue a question better than there was no one about to hear it than he. There are, however, usually two sides to a question. A man is very likely to be wrong when he is most positively right. He had heard it said of a friend of his that he wished to be sure of anything as he is of everything.

A certain New England deacon, he said, stated to another deacon, "I believe we should agree on this question and shake hands. As long as I cannot give in you must."

"As I have the floor," he continued, "and can't give in, should you disagree with me, you must give me a question." "Take the map of North America and behold the view! Napoleon in all his glory, power and limitless ambition never saw anything so vast of anything so wealth is here to elevate the mind, inspire the soul, and to make us proud of ourselves and country. It is the duty of man to make the most of it."

Mr. Watterson said the moral danger is the only danger which perpetually hangs over us like the sword of Damocles. The country who would occupy the Presidential chair, I have seen the Constitution stand solid as a rock, when intense passion began to be engendered by a struggle for the Presidency, which was so close that at the finish a single blanket might have covered the entire country.

The country who would occupy the Presidential chair, I have seen the Constitution stand solid as a rock, when intense passion began to be engendered by a struggle for the Presidency, which was so close that at the finish a single blanket might have covered the entire country.

"The trail of the trade mark is over us all," he said. "From the $10,000 minister to the United States Senator."

The speaker deprecated the willingness of the world to forgive the sins of the rich. "He said everybody seems to forget in a little while how the wealthy accumulated their money and are willing to break the bread and drink the wine of the boarders of wealth. He regretted that there are not more men like Agassiz, who, when offered $100,000 to deliver a course of lectures, indignantly replied: 'Go away from me. What time have I to search for money?'"

"Honorable poverty seems to have become one of the lost arts. In this age of the world men who can earn $20,000 a year do not care to sacrifice their business interests for a seat in Congress worth only $5,000 a year. They prefer to make a fortune first and then buy a seat in the United States Senate to satisfy any craving they may have for fame."

The speaker alluded to the Swiss republic as one of the poorest and yet the happiest people on the earth. "In them," he said, "we find the ideal system of Jeffersonian government. Their elections are held on Sundays and in the churches. The President receives a salary of less than a thousand dollars a year. An amount so small that it does not invite bribery. The Swiss peasant, secure in his little home on the mountain side, is the happiest man in the world."

Some length concerning the methods of certain employment agencies, which, he says, are swindles of the worst kind, as they obtain money by false pretenses. The correspondent says these dishonest agencies take a fee and promise to secure positions for the applicants, but that as soon as they secure the coin, make excuse for not carrying out their part of the contract. The writer says that he has been victimized several times, and that the thing is getting monotonous. He thinks there should be some redress under the law.

After the lecture Mr. Watterson was escorted to the rooms of the Press Club on South Spring street, where quite a number of newspaper men called on him. There was no formal reception or entertainment, but several hours were very pleasantly spent.

"The success which may come with perseverance is often of a character that brings with it sorrow and discontent. A member of the United States Senate once told me 'I have been fighting for fifteen years to get my seat and now that I have it what does it matter after all?' I once heard a President of the United States say: 'I was a candidate for many years and every four years I came away from the convention beaten and disappointed, and at last when I secured the prize I found that those whom I wished to reward were dead and those whom I wished to punish had become my friends.' Now that I had no enjoyment in life because he was cheated by circumstances out of what he honestly believed belonged to him."

"I think the young fellow who is in love with a girl and finds her particularly hard to get and better look for a wife somewhere else."

"Success in life is happiness. The successful man, the happy man, is he who believes his old wife is the best woman on earth. (Applause.) Those vine-covered, chatched cottages in the hills, and who would not swap his freckled, red-haired brats for princes of the blood. Happiness is the creation of the mind and heart, not of the stomach. For those who pay indefinite visits to Canada or Mexico I have a genuine sympathy. It does not necessarily follow that the loafers are devoid of merit or the thief of virtue. There are circumstances which plunge men down into the vortex of sin and crime, which we often cannot understand. Therefore let us judge them not too harshly.

"The instinct for gambling is universal. No gambler expects to lose, but the man who wins laughs, and he who loses swears. But what a fatal mistake makes the man who puts his hand on a single dollar which he has not conscientiously earned."

Continuing his speech, he said every man who is short in his accounts should not be thought to be a scoundrel. How often a public official is so careless as not to keep his public and private accounts separate.

When he was a boy at college, he said, he was secretary of a society, and one position about to make his report he found that he was $4.50 short in his accounts and his salary largely overdrawn. Oh, how he suffered from the thought. He was so ashamed and rejoiced when a friend came to his relief with $5 and the remark, "Foolish boy, don't do it over again." Yet he was no scoundrel, but a victim of his own carelessness.

"I will remember," he continued, "the meeting some years ago of the directors of a big bank in a great city to discuss the dishonesty of a member of the firm. Some of the directors were for prosecuting him, but good counsel prevailed, the money was returned and the matter dropped there. But six months later one of these directors disappeared with $100,000 and some months after that another went to Canada with $20,000 raised on forged securities. But the most remarkable thing about the whole affair was that the man who had been saved from prosecution by the directors of the bank was the same man who was the grand jury which indicted the two absconders."

"We find hypocrisy everywhere—in the church, society, trade. While we have not had our fingers burned in purchasing lots in towns which existed only on the map. We are told that the honest hypocrites are the play actors, who appear in the robes of kings today and the rags of beggars tomorrow. We speak of the golden age, the bronze age, but every country has its crown of glory and its wreath of thorns."

"The entire stock in trade of all political parties makes what I call mighty small change in the political market. The South is a problem the solution of which the wisest could not accomplish. For thirty years I had theories on that subject, but after the latest election of these years I have a child-like faith in God to adjust that question. Is it the social question, or the political question, or the economic question, or time must come when the silent snowfall of ballots will remedy all of our defects."

On my own day I have seen the republic plunged into a bloody war involving the freedom of 4,000,000 of human beings, and I have seen the nation come out of the conflict more corrupt and more wicked than when it went into it. I have seen the Constitution stand triumphant after a battle for the chief magistracy of the nation during which for months the body known as the President of the United States was in the hands of the mob."

Mr. Watterson said the moral danger is the only danger which perpetually hangs over us like the sword of Damocles. The country who would occupy the Presidential chair, I have seen the Constitution stand solid as a rock, when intense passion began to be engendered by a struggle for the Presidency, which was so close that at the finish a single blanket might have covered the entire country.

A Very Pretty Romance That Will Culminate

According to the programme that has been laid out by the parties most interested, there will be a wedding on the Heights on Saturday next, which will bring to a close a very pretty little romance.

The bride, prospective is a young widow from Iowa city, is quite well known here, having spent one season on the Heights, visiting relatives. She recently arrived for a season's visit, and it was supposed that she would buy a place and make her home here eventually, as she has ample means, and seemed to be greatly in love with the climate. However, it appears that while at Albuquerque, N. M., she met a young man, who, she said, was the acquaintance of a railroad man and the two became so much infatuated that a secret engagement was entered into, the wedding to have taken place in June, or thereabouts.

It is to be, could not wait so long, he thought, so it fell about that when the ticket agents reached this city last week on their excursion, the railroad man, who, by the way, is not a ticket seller, but a puncher of the same, was with the party. He had secured a short leave of absence, and came on in person to push his suit for an early marriage. In this he was successful, and the date has been fixed for Saturday, the wedding ceremony meantime being very busy preparing her outfit, as she must accompany her new husband East immediately after the wedding is taken place.

The conductor is all the more impatient, from the fact that he has just secured a divorce from a former wife, from whom he had been separated for some time. An amusing incident in the case was revealed by the receipt of a forwarded letter from his sister in law, who, fearing he would feel melancholy after the loss of his wife, had written him to get a new one. He was on his way out to visit him, and cheer him up. She was wired to come on to Los Angeles, and will doubtless be one of the favored few present at the ceremony Saturday night.

There is a steady demand for houses, and agents who make a specialty of renting are sorely taxed to supply all their would-be patrons with desirable homes in accessible locations.

E. F. Hays and wife of Las Vegas and Thomas C. Walker of Redondo are late arrivals at the Mt. Pleasant.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

A Large Crowd at the Gospel Tent Last Night.

The Pacific Gospel Mission tent had a larger attendance last night than the night before. Evangelist Frank L. Smith of New York gave a powerful address from Proverbs xxii, 2, "Son, give me thine heart." A large choir was on the platform, and rendered acceptable work in the half-hour musical service preceding the address. A trio, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moffatt and Mr. Bell, sang. A tender gospel invitation was sung by Miss Goodwin, following the evangelist's address. Mrs. Moffatt sang a medley very effectively, the audience joining in several of the choruses. Many accepted the invitation.

As stated in yesterday's Times, these meetings will be continued every night during this month, at the tent, on Second street, just east of San Pedro street.

old wife is the best woman on earth. (Applause.) Those vine-covered, chatched cottages in the hills, and who would not swap his freckled, red-haired brats for princes of the blood. Happiness is the creation of the mind and heart, not of the stomach. For those who pay indefinite visits to Canada or Mexico I have a genuine sympathy. It does not necessarily follow that the loafers are devoid of merit or the thief of virtue. There are circumstances which plunge men down into the vortex of sin and crime, which we often cannot understand. Therefore let us judge them not too harshly.

"The instinct for gambling is universal. No gambler expects to lose, but the man who wins laughs, and he who loses swears. But what a fatal mistake makes the man who puts his hand on a single dollar which he has not conscientiously earned."

Continuing his speech, he said every man who is short in his accounts should not be thought to be a scoundrel. How often a public official is so careless as not to keep his public and private accounts separate.

When he was a boy at college, he said, he was secretary of a society, and one position about to make his report he found that he was $4.50 short in his accounts and his salary largely overdrawn. Oh, how he suffered from the thought. He was so ashamed and rejoiced when a friend came to his relief with $5 and the remark, "Foolish boy, don't do it over again." Yet he was no scoundrel, but a victim of his own carelessness.

PASADENA.

An Old Resident, Dead—Our Fire Department.

A Case Before Justice Merriam—Pageant of Roses Notes—Personal and General—The Local News in Brief.

PASADENA, April 17.—(Special Correspondence.) The venerable E. B. Nash, father of A. K. Nash, died Tuesday morning at his home in Pasadena, where he made his home during the past six years. He was a native of Massachusetts, but in early life he emigrated to Ohio and subsequently to Illinois and Iowa. During his residence in Pasadena he won the respect and esteem of a large circle of friends. He was always active in church and Sunday-school work, and his Christianity always shone forth prominently. His wife died about a year ago. The funeral services will take place at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. Nash.

IF THERE SHOULD BE A BIG FIRE?

There appeared in these columns a few days ago a suggestion to the effect that Pasadena needs another engine in the fire department. First, it is a suggestion here, but in a recent instance, that of the burning of the New Richmond, the engine was found to be inadequate, and strongly emphasizes the fact that a fully-equipped fire department is an economy. Pasadena has a large number of engines, but they are not of the latest type, and are not so far as it goes, and there are undoubtedly many residents who would oppose any further expenditure of money in this direction on the plea of economy, and for the reason that confagurations have been exceedingly rare in Pasadena. The Examiner, commenting editorially on the subject of the Santa Cruz fire, says: "The expenditure of money for fire fighting apparatus in a town of fair size is not an extravagance. It should follow the water supply, and the fire department should be maintained as a first necessity. Pasadena has learned the lesson, and will not be content to secure a few engines and hose to put out a few fires. But there are plenty of towns as large as Santa Cruz that are open to the sweep of conflagration and are not prepared to pay for the protection. It is to them that the lesson is to be learned. They have depended on good luck and it has served them. But good luck is very poor insurance against fire. Water and good engines are much better."

THIS WEEK'S PAGEANT.

It was announced in these columns that the pageant of the Pageant of Roses would be placed on sale at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. At 11:30 o'clock Monday night, one man armed with a chair, a hammer, and a saw, entered the place where the pageant was to be sold. At 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, a crowd had gathered, and by sunrise the pageant had been sold for $100. The crowd had been estimated at 100, and the pageant had been sold for $100. The crowd had been estimated at 100, and the pageant had been sold for $100.

We started the bung yesterday on a new ten-barrel lot of pure boiled linseed oil, which we sell at 65c per gal.
